DOING IOWA PROUD

TEAM IOWA PREPARING TO COMPETE AT TRANSPLANT GAMES THIS SUMMER

For many, the biannual Transplant Games offer the chance to feed their competitive side, for others they are an opportunity to recapture a sense of “normalcy,” and for others still, they are simply an opportunity to connect with far-flung friends from all over the country.

For Kim Scadlock, one of Team Iowa’s managers since 2010, the Transplant Games are all of that—and so much more.

“It is great for those who have had a transplant to be able to compete against those who have had a similar experience,” she says. Kim’s son Beckham is a heart recipient. “But more than that, the Games are meaningful in a way that is hard to put into words. It is so much more than an athletic competition.”

This aspect of the event the Transplant Games recognize themselves, describing the week-long competition as: “More than an athletic event, the Donate Life Transplant Games highlight the critical importance of organ, eye, and tissue donation, while celebrating the lives of organ donors and recipients.”

In this issue of Connections, you will find our annual report for 2015. Throughout the report, you will find photos and quotes from those who have generously shared their stories of donation with us.

These stories are part of an effort Iowa Donor Network is making to shine a light on the #FACESOFDONATION. We are offering testimonials on our website, social media channels, and in other communications pieces like Connections.

After you’ve had a chance to read some of the testimonials here, I urge you to visit our website to read more. As a living donor myself, I was proud to join others touched by donation and be among those featured in the campaign.

It is my hope that the campaign inspires you to consider becoming a donor. If you are already a registered donor, I ask that you take it a step further and be certain that you have made your intentions known to those closest to you—those who may be faced with the important task of ensuring your wishes are honored.

Imagine if one of the donor family members featured in our #FACESOFDONATION campaign hadn’t known the wishes of their loved one. Or consider how it would have impacted one of our recipients if the life-saving organ they needed wasn’t made available because the family of a potential donor didn’t know their loved one’s wishes.

We all have the potential to save or enhance another’s life by making the decision to become a donor. But let’s not stop at joining the registry, let’s make sure we tell others about our decision.
We are grateful to all who demonstrated their commitment to donation by making financial contributions to Iowa Donor Network. Those who made gifts in the 2015 fiscal year (January 1 - December 31) are listed on the pages that follow.

Joyce Boulanger  RON SPOERL
Kidney Recipient, Jim Steinberg

“My donor has given me the gift of bonus time which has enabled me to get married, have children, work, enjoy a full and active life, travel the world, and have many more opportunities to spend time with family and friends.”

Kidney Recipient, Jim Steinberg
We honor these donors who gave generously and offered hope to those in need.

TISSUE DONORS

We appreciate the contributions from our donors aimed at supporting organ and tissue in Iowa. We have worked to ensure the accuracy and inclusion of all of our donors in this annual report and apologize for any errors or omissions.

The photos used in the 2015 Annual Report include those who have so generously shared their story as part of our #FACESOFDONATION campaign. We encourage you to visit IowaDonorNetwork.org or search the hashtag on social media for more stories.
Iowa Energy teamed up with Iowa Donor Network to help raise awareness about organ and tissue donation. Cheered on by over 600 IDN supporters, the team played in green and blue jerseys to help kick off Donate Life Month! Thanks to everyone who came out and made it a great night!
Kim says the Games are inspiring for all involved. The Scadlocks were able to meet their son’s donor family at the Games in 2010, the first year Beckham competed. Kim says it was an impactful experience and an example of the value of the games.

“It was touching to watch Beckham participate with his donor family,” Kim says. “They were able to see their child’s heart beating in his chest. It was incredibly fulfilling for both families.”

This year’s games will be hosted in Cleveland between June 10 and 15, and Team Iowa will send a delegation of around two dozen athletes and more than 40 who will cheer them on. Athletes will compete in everything from basketball and volleyball to darts, poker, trivia, ballroom dancing and more. But Kim reiterates that it is about more than the Games.

“It’s a chance to connect and for the athletes to be surrounded by those who have had a similar experience,” she says. “For many athletes it is powerful to be in a situation where they feel just like everyone else.”

About the Team Iowa Transplant Athletes

By competing in the Donate Life Transplant Games of America, our Team Iowa athletes honor donors and donor families, while celebrating life. The team consists of athletes and support members. Our athletes have received an organ, bone marrow, tissue or corneal transplant or are a living donor. We are always thrilled to welcome new members and would love to have more people join the team! To participate as an athlete in the Games you must meet the following requirements:

- Have received an organ, tissue, bone marrow or cornea transplant (regardless if you are taking anti-rejection medication or not) or you are a living donor.
- Transplant occurred at least 9 months prior to the start of the Games.
- You are in healthy condition and your doctor has signed a medical waiver allowing you to participate.
- You have signed a form stating that you meet the above requirements.
- You have completed an application form and background screening.
